

HOME

do you always feel alone do you ever want him home is he always in your dreams getting high on dmt do you feel much better when you just say his name you and me together things would never be the same are you ready for a change are you, are you ready for a change are you always searching for somewhere that you've before and you always travel on your own your searching for your planet home do you feel a comfort when you look to the sky born onto this planet and your not sure quite why all you wanna do is fly all you wanna do is fly yeah oh subconscious questions running through my mind searching for a destination i may never find yeah this rapture it goes spinning through my veins this feeling of nostalgia is planted in my brain have you ever, have you ever ever known something maybe you shouldn't know and have you had the calling to fly back home do you always wanna feel the sea yeah the salty water cleansing me and the sand upon your feet it feels so good but nothing like it really should if you feel like maybe baby you feel my pain come away with me and we'll be together again yeah they'll think we're all insane its ok cos baby we can lead the way

oh subconscious questions running through my mind
searching for a destination i may never find
yeah this rapture it goes spinning through my veins
this feeling of nostalgia is planted in my brain have you ever, have you ever ever seen something that's just not quite human being and have you had the calling to fly back home

do you ever wanna cry when you look at the sky and do you ask the question why

home

have you ever, have you ever seen light have you ever had the calling had the calling, had the calling
home